

Culture of HONESTY

Workshop Details

Culture of Honesty is a three-hour forum designed to nudge your team of leaders or staff to acknowledge and identify what isn't being talked about in your culture. Discussions will focus on initial concepts to facilitate these conversations, moving them forward in a productive, respectful and God-honoring way.

"Raising the level of respectful honesty in our churches could prove to be one of the most important developments of the decade."

Culture of Honesty Outline (3 hours)
Session One	Acknowledges our aversion to difficult conversations and introduces the necessity of engaging them well Addresses concepts such as "the terminal dance of niceness" , "the last 10%" and "how to diagnose the gap between full candor and your present state" through video interaction between Tim Schroeder and Bill Hybels Uses entertaining and educational group role playing to bring the concepts home
Session Two	"If people can't talk it out – they act it out" "There is a way to be absolutely honest and absolutely loving, simultaneously." These and numerous other gems provide the backdrop of video interaction between Tim Schroeder and Joseph Grenny, leading to the opportunity for your team to hold a practice session discussing a "hot topic" of your choosing Principles of how to be 100% candid and 100% respectful from Joseph Grenny will guide your discussion

If your church or team struggles to deal effectively with difficult subjects or fails to act with unity and conviction, a Culture of Honesty session is a great way to start the conversation and move towards a solution.
